MAINE'S LEADING VOICE FOR HEALTHCARE

Election Guide for Member Hospitals

Maine Elections 2018

Please accept this guide as an overview of the candidates running for state office in Maine this election cycle. The Maine Hospital Association does not endorse candidates for office. Nor do we compile scorecards or ratings for candidates. This guide is merely meant to be a resource for you to identify your local candidates.

Overview. All 151 House members and 35 Senators are on the ballot this year. Additionally, for the first time in eight years, the office of Governor is open and four candidates are on the ballot.

There are also three mid-term federal races this year, both Congressional seats and the Senate seat currently occupied by Senator Angus King (who is seeking re-election).

Partisan Breakdown. There will be a fair amount of turnover this year as Maine's term limit law continues to have some effect. The four-term/eight-year limits are having more impact on Republicans this cycle versus Democrats. Eight years ago, Governor LePage led a "Red Wave" in Maine that saw Republicans take control of both the House and Senate for the first time in decades. Many of those Republicans are now being termed out.

	Democrats	Republicans	Independents
Current Senate	17	18	0
Senate Termed-out	1	7	0
Retiring	1	3	0
Senate Total	2	10	0

In the Senate, seven Republicans are termed-out compared to only one Democrat. Furthermore, three Republicans who could seek re-election have chosen to retire instead compared to only one Democrat. Accordingly, almost 90 percent of Senate Democrats are running for re-election to the Senate compared to only half of Republicans.

	Democrats	Republicans	Independents
Current House	74	70	7
House Termed-out	5	14	2
Retiring	11	14	2
House Total	16	28	4

In the House, 14 Republicans are termed-out compared to only five Democrats and two independents who generally caucus with Democrats. As for retirements, it's more evenly divided as 14 Republicans are leaving the House compared to 11 Democrats and two independents. Some of these early House retirees are seeking Senate seats.

Legislative Leadership. Virtually all of the Republican leadership is termed-out, compared to only a few members of Democrat leadership.

The Republican Senate President, Mike Thibodeau and Senate Majority leader Garrett Mason are each concluding eight years of service and neither is seeking a House seat. The long-time assistant Majority leader, Sen. Andre Cushing is also concluding his service. Sen. Cushing stepped down from his leadership position earlier this year and was replaced by Sen. Amy Volk who is running for re-election.

Both members of Senate Democrat leadership, Senators Troy Jackson and Nate Libby, are running for re-election.

In the House, the Republican Minority leader, Rep. Ken Fredette, and Assistant Minority leaders, Rep. Ellie Espling, are done with their 8 year terms (Rep. Espling is running for the Senate).

On the Democrat side, current Speaker of the House Sara Gideon is seeking re-election. Her two assistants are both done. Minority leader Rep. Erin Herbig is seeking a Senate seat and Rep. Jared Golden is running for Congress in the second district against current Rep. Bruce Poliquin.

Legislative Committees. We won't know who will serve on which legislative committees until December or even January, following the election this fall.

However, we know many who won't. Several of the termed-out legislators serve on the two committees we monitor most closely – Appropriations and Health & Human Services (HHS).

Two Republicans who have been on the HHS Committee for eight years, Representatives Malaby and Sanderson, are termed-out (Rep. Malaby is running for the Senate). Additionally, the Senate Republican chair, Sen. Brakey, is not running for re-election (he is instead challenging Sen. King for the U.S. Senate). One Democrat on the HHS Committee, Rep. Parker, chose not to seek re-election.

Five of six Republicans on the Appropriations Committee are not returning. Four of them, Representatives Sirocki, Timberlake and Winsor, and Sen. Roger Katz are termed out (Rep. Timberlake is running for the Senate).

All of the Democrats on Appropriations are seeking re-election to their current seats.

Governor. Executive leadership is also termed-out as Governor LePage has served his maximum eight years. There are four potential replacements.

On the Republican side is businessman Shawn Moody who has no prior State House experience.

On the Democrat side is Attorney General Janet Mills who served several terms in the House of Representatives.

Independent Terry Hayes is the current state Treasurer and also served in the House.

Independent Alan Caron served in the administration of Governor Angus King during the 1990s.

- Question 3: “Do you favor a $106,000,000 bond issue, including $101,000,000 for construction, reconstruction and rehabilitation of highways and bridges and for facilities and equipment related to ports, piers, harbors, marine transportation, freight and passenger railroads, aviation, transit and bicycle and pedestrian trails, to be used to match an estimated $137,000,000 in federal and other funds, and $5,000,000 for the upgrade of municipal culverts at stream crossings?”
- Question 4: “Do you favor a $49,000,000 bond issue to be matched by at least $49,000,000 in private and public funds to modernize and improve the facilities and infrastructure of Maine's public universities in order to expand workforce development capacity and to attract and retain students to strengthen Maine's economy and future workforce?”
- Question 5: “Do you favor a $15,000,000 bond issue to improve educational programs by upgrading facilities at all 7 of Maine's community colleges in order to provide Maine people with access to high-skill, low-cost technical and career education?”
